From the Prez

I guess summer is officially here. I hope everyone had a safe and enjoyable Fourth of July weekend. I really wish the weather would start cooperating with my schedule. It seems as if it is nice out I have other plans and when it is not conducive for flying I have nothing going on. Hopefully it changes soon.

Airventure Oshkosh is only three weeks away. I am starting to get excited to make the annual trip. I still have to pick which days I want to volunteer, if any, and which days I want to go. I was anticipating just another year with nothing really new. Oh was I wrong. I just checked out what was coming this year and found out that the F-22 Raptors are making a return trip.

Making their first appearance at Oshkosh will be the V-22 Osprey. The Osprey was suppose to be at Sun n Fun in April but I heard they were canceled. Hopefully they can make the trip. Also will be the first practical jet pack. They are claiming a longer flight time than the original Bell model. The one that I can't wait to see after the announcement last year is Cirrus's new jet. Cirrus really knows how to make an awesome airplane.

I finally flew my new Edge. What a cool airplane. Next up is the Katana.

That's all for this month. Get out to the field and fly!
Kevin
